The want of a knowledge of proper economy throughout the whole school system of the land was sadly felt. Education must begin at the bottom of all knowledge, and this first knowledge must be found in the Academy and even in the smaller schools, as the knowledge gained here would prove a great saving in the higher schools. OXFORD ITEMS .- Our Oxford correspondent, writing under date of the 12th items from that good old town:

Cyrus Moss, a freedman, formerly the slave of the widew Adcock, was committed to jail in Oxford on Tuesday, February 11th. He is supposed to be the principal of a band of rogues who have been thieving extensively in the Brassfield section of country. Charles Jeffreys, Caleb Adcock and Coley Diment have all missed tobacco, and it is believed that Cyrus and his clan have been guilty of the stealing. Last year the same party stole a sheep and hog from Ruius Bobbitt, Esq., manutactured tobacco from W. F. Freeman, Esq., and leaf tobacco from J. Taylor's warehouse and the Granville warehouse were both crowded with tobacco on Tuesday, February 11th, the quantity sold being estimated at from forty five to fifty thousand pounds. It is very gratitying to witness so decided a success on the part of our warehouses. The young ladies of Oxford, while pre-eminently distinguished for their personal beauty and accomplishments, abound in other qualities equally worthy of admiration. Whenever called on to render any service in behalf of the interests of religion or benevolence, they always respond with an alacrity and cheerfulness that reflect the highest lustre on their characters, These remarks are prompted by the information industry they have displayed in work- notice. ing for the Orphan Asylum. Quite a number of them congregated at the known as St. John's College, on the 11th inst., and vied with each other in plying their needles industriously, under the direction of Mrs. Sarah A. THE WESTERN ROAD-MR. FLEM-MING'S RESOLUTION. - The resolution of Senator W. W. Flemming, of McDowell, in regard to authorizing the Governor to appeal in the case of the Western Road, passed its second reading in the Senate yesterday, and was made the one of the most practical and soundest special order to-day at 11 o'clock.

The bill authorizes the Governor to appeal from the judgment rendered in the Circuit Court in favor of Henry Clews and others vs. Western Railroad, and also to institute such suits as the Governor may think necessary in matters growing out of said judgment-the State Treasurer to give the necessary appeal and prosecution bonds.

COTTON EXCHANGE.—It is now a well established fact that Raleigh has grown inst., sends us the following interesting to be a thriving cotton market. Daily our streets are almost blockaded with bales of this great commercial commodity. Frequently the sidewalks of our principal streets are so blocked with cotton bales that great annoyance is experienced by passers-by. We readily agree that everything possible should be done to foster and to increase this trade and every inducement offerred to trade, and every inducement offerred to attract it hither, but we do not think the sidewalks of a city should be lumbered up with articles of merchandise to the serious inconvenience of the rest of the community. Now, in our opinion, this evil can be easily and properly remedied, and that too in a man-ner conducive to the interest of all. Let the Board of City Commissioners grant a space of, say, 60 feet on the west end of Baptist Grove, and erect thereon a large and handsome cotton shed wtih convenient and well arranged offices at each end, and let the place be known by the name of "Cotton Exchange," or "Cotton Park," or by some other appropriate name. Let this policy be inaugurated, and we are sure that thousands of bales of cotton will find their way to this market which are now shipped in other directions. We invite our practical and business men to give their ideas as to the posibility and utility of this plan. To THE PATRONS OF RALEIGH FE-MALE SEMINARY.—To give time for the completion of the repairs and additions to our school building, I have rented the property on Newbern Avenue known as the Cotton Mansion or Kingsland Place, where I am prepared to accommodate the school.

the Mo: mons cannot be avoided. Orders have been sent out to remove United States troops from most of the Southern States, and send them to points where they are more needed. It is generally understood that some of them will be sent to Utah, to preserve

Young's kingdom. The situation of affairs there is not very promising. The Mormon Legislature has been charged with passing laws with the view of obstructing the United States Courts in the discharge of their duties. There is much feeling on the subject, and a crisis is approaching which may lead to serious disturbances. It is alleged that under the Mormon statute for summoning jurors, it is im possible for the United States Court to obtain an impartial jury, and that criminal trials in that Court are mere farces.

Under an Act of Congress, the manner of summoning juries in the Federal Courts must conform to the local laws. In North Carolina, Federal juries are picked by the Marshal, instead of being chosen by lot, as our State laws require Hence it is we have frequently charged that the Federal juries which have been summoned in this State contrary to the mode of summoning in our own Courts, is in direct violation of the Act of Congress on the subject, and juries picked by the United States Marshal for North Carolina were illegally chosen.

If trouble should ensue in Utah, one of the chief causes will be on account of the action of the Utah Legislature, in passing a law providing for the summoning juries in such a manner as to protect the Mormons from criminal prosecutions in the Federal Courts.

NORTH CAROLINA PRESS AS-SOCIATIO

We notice that several of our State exchanges are agitating the formation of a State Press Association. The proposition was started, we believe, by the Wilmington Journal, and seemed to meet with general approval by our brethren of the press. Such an Association, if properly conducted, will be of great service to the newspapers of the State.

In many of the Northern and several of the Southern States such Associations exist, and afford pleasant and profitable re-unions at their annual press celebrations.

The Goldsboro Messenger thinks Goldsboro is the most suitable place for the meeting of the Association, it it should be determined to hold one.

We think that Raleigh would be the most acceptable place at which to hold the preliminary meeting for organization, on account of its central position, but we are willing to leave that matter to the decision of our cotemporaries. After the first meeting, the choice of the place for future meetings should be left to a vote of the members.

We would be glad to hear the views of our cotemporaries on the questions of the proper time and place for a Convention to organize the Association.

POSTPONEMENT OF THE AM NESTY BILL.

The Amnesty Bill, which had been made the special order for twelve o'clock yesterday in the House, was postponed until next Tuesday.

In the meantime, we hope those Republicans who have raised such a uscless cry over the fancied enormities of the measure, will consider the bill in a more reasonable light, and let reason, common sense, justice and charity guide their course, instead of passion, prejudice and party malignity.

We would prefer that the Bill be passed by both parties, because such action would have greater moral effect and because the bill is non partisan in its char acter. But if the Republicans will not vote for it, then the Conservatives should not be deterred from their duty by the faise clamor which has been raised by opponents of the Bill.

SPORTING ON COBB'S ISLAND-

We surrender a portion of our editorial space to day to an interesting letter from a highly worthy farmer of idle during his absence. Granville, Capt. Charles R. Lewis.

Capt. Lewis is famous as one of the best bird and turkey sportsmen in this part of the State.

Mr. John W. Lewis, of New York, a one of the three referred to in Mr. Lewis' letter. Many years ago he left Granville county to seek his fortune in a wider field of enterprise. He settled in New York, and by dint of close attention to business has amassed a large fortune. He is now about sixty years of age, and is a retired merchant. Mr. Lewis was a was associated in that business with the Messrs. Garrett, of Edgecombe, on Warren street, New York. The house of amount of patronage from our North Carolina merchants.

Recently a Bill on the subject was introduced in Congress by Gen. Young, of Georgia, and passed the House on the 20th of January, ult. The following is a copy :

TOO SEVERE.

We copy below an article from the Hillsboro Recorder, making the amende honorable to several Senators for omitting their names from the list of those who advocated the Amnesty Bill.

That is right, but we think the Re corder is too severe on the members of our party in the Senate who did not vote for the bill.

We cannot brand as "traitors to the platter clean." party or as the enemies of the public peace," the Conservatives of the Senate who do not approve of the Amnesty Bill. Because they differ with us on this measure, we will not denounce them, pro hac vice, as untrue to the Conservative party. We think the bill is right and proper, and are heartily in favor of its passage. - We have done all we could to induce our friends in the Legislature to support it, but if they are conscientiously opposed to its principles, if they think it is wrong and impolitic, we will not attempt to read them cut of the party, nor do we think that denunciation of them will change their views on the subject: [From the Hillsboro Recorder. AMERICAN RILL In our article la last we appear to have done injustice to several gentlemen whose services were as conspicuous in the successful issue of the debate as those whose names we gave. We beg to be acquitted of intentional injustice, or partial discrimination, for we recognize with gratitude the services of those whom we did not mention in connection with the bill. Col. Allen, the introducer of the bill labored ably and faithfully for its passage, and had the active and able cooperation of Senators Murphy, Waring, Fleming, Welch, Merrimon, Morchead, and Worth, and others whose names we can not now recall. We named the gentlemen specified in the former article simply because they occurred to us at the time of the writing as the most prominent, and we do not abate a a jot of our appreciation of their merits, while we disclaim the idea of giving undue and unjust prominence. In this connection, we will state that we wrote the article under the sanguine belief that the bill would encounter only radical opposition in the House. We still entertain that belief, for we cannot understand how a Democrat can reconcile it to his conscience, or to his understanding to oppose it. The bill is an appeal for peace. The upturned eyes and the upilifted arms of thousands are directed to the Legislature for relief from oppression which makes life a burden and freedom a mockery. No member of the Conservative party who is deaf to these appeals, who sides with the radical party, who denies this measure of relief, can ever hope to lift up his head again. He deserves to be, as will most assuredly happen, execrated as a traitor and branded as an enemy to the peace and happiness of his race and his State. We hope our friends will remember this, for we express the opinions and feelings of the people; at least of the Democratic-Conservative boats inside. The blinds of course

[Correspondence Daily News. A Trip to Cobb's Island and a Description of Duck Henting-Fine Sport-Price of Ducks in New York.

NEAR OXFORD, N. C., Feb. 11, 1873. Thinking that a description of a trip to Cobb's Island, on the eastern shore of Virginia, would prove interesting to the many readers of your most excellent and justly popular journal, I have concluded to send you an imperfect sketch of a visit I paid to that renowned place, accompanied by two friends, on a duck hunting expedition. I took the cars at Henderson, equipped with an ordinary size No. 12 bird gun and such other ac that I might chance to encounter on the waters and tributaries of the Chesapeake. Our party left Norfolk at 6 o'clock A. M., on a beautiful little steamer, named N. P. Banks, for Cherystone, in Northampton county, Va., about sixty miles from Norfolk. The trip cross the bay was a most pleasant one, learn there is every reason to hope that and its pleasure was heightened by the entertaining and genial Captain of the steamer who left no stone unturned in his efforts to contribute to our comfort. The dinner prepared for us on board was very sumptuous, and our appetities being "whetted to a keen relish," we performed exploits quite equal to those of Jack Spratt and his wife, yet owing to the inexhaustible resources of the Commissariat of the N. P. Banks, (it will be remembered Gen. N. P. Banks, after whom the boat is named, was called Stonewall Jackson's Commissary) we found it impossible to imitate Jack Spratt and his wife in "sweeping the The oysters were, without doubt, the best flavored we have ever had the pleasure of eating. Arriving at Cherrystone, about two o'clock P. M., we had to travel then about five miles by hack to a landing on one of the tributaries of Broad Bay, some eight miles from Cobb's Island. We had to travel the last eight miles in a small sail boat. It so happened the wind and tide were both against us. It was snowing, and the snow was angrily striking us in the face. The trip of the last eight miles was any thing but poetical. We do not exaggerate when we say it was awful Your correspodent more than once said to himself mentally that if he escaped the danger that then menaced him, he would be "a good boy" for the future. Alas! how frequently are our good resolutions as fleeting as the snow flakes that fell on our faces for the last eight miles of our voyage. We landed at the Island about four o'clock, P. M., almost benumbed, for the weather was excessively cold. The Messrs. Cobb, the proprietors of the Hotel, had a good blazing fire in their office room, which with a slight adjuvant in a liquid form soon warmed the inner as well as the outer man, and we entered into an agreeable conversation about the Island, etc. The entire Island is the property of the Messrs. Cobb. The first house was built on the Island at a stake where the old man, some 40 years ago, fastened his boat. The Island was then very small. It has increased in size by the drifting of sand till it is about seven miles one way and two or three the other. It is a noted place of resort in the summer months for pleasure-seekers, especially those who are fond of surf bathing, fishing and other sea-shore amusements. The eldest of the Messrs. Cobb, who is the father of the proprietors and who is about seventy years old, says he has killed more wild ducks and geese than any man in the State of Virginia. His accounts of his achievements seemed really incredible at first blush yet we do not doubt their accuracy. But I fear my letter is getting tediously long, and I will proceed to say something about duck hunting, as that is one of my chief reasons for sending you this communication. The first day after landing, we had to stay in doors on account of the snow storm. The second day after our arrival was sufficiently pleasant, and accordingly, with three guides, one large boat and three small ones, we started for the "ducking grounds," about three miles from the island. The large boats towed with a great advantage.

round. Those that come in very large flocks are called Brant, a beautiful specimen of duck, something larger than muscovy ducks that we raise in our yards, yet not quite so large as our geese. We were not fortunate in having a large flock to come to our blind. The largest number that came near our blind amounted to seven, and we killed six of them, leaving "only one" to tell the tale of their disaster. For the most part we only had the pleasure of shooting at one duck at a time. The kind we killed were principally those known under the appellation ranks next to the Bryant Duck. The latter sells for from one dollar to three dollars per pair, and the Black Duck brings almost the same price. Both that are attracted to the decoys, the CENSUS-TAKERS TO BE PAID. MORE NORTH CAROLINIANS many as he had. Thereupon he complimented my dexterity in high terms, saying that I did the best shooting that received by a gentleman in this city had ever been done on the Island. It is but doing him justice, however, to state that he gave me every advantage that I could have desired. When the wind and tide are unfavorable, the ducks are not attracted by the decoys, and the sport of course is not so good, as very few ducks come within range. When the weather is favorable, the sport is delightful beyond all powers of description. It is considered luck to have three good days out of six. The Messrs. Cobb kill ducks as a matter of commerce, no doubt thereby realizing a large income, as they sell them at high prices in the New York market. Mr. Nathan Cobb goes out in a small sloop every Monday morning, and does not return until the following Saturday. I will close by saying we were charmed with our trip, save one exception, and that was, the expense we incurred, which caused the luxury of our sport to be of short duration. Board at the Hotel was two dollars and fifty cents per day, but besides this, we had to pay five dollars per day for coutrements as I thought suitable for the boats and guide, and also half of shooting wild ducks and other game the game we killed. The Hotel is well kept, and the Messrs. Cobb impressed us most favorably. We shall for many years to come retain a vivid and agreeable recollection of the exquisite sport of which we have endeavored to give your readers only a faint picture. With my best wishes for your success and prosperity, permit me to subscribe

DEAR SIR—The Soluble Sea Island Guano purchased of you this season was used by the side of three others, and has given me more satisfaction than any of the others. The Soluble Sea Island Guano was the one used upon the acre of land upon which my son raised the cotton upon which he took his State premium for the greatest amount of cotton to an acre; and I am informed by the Chairman of the Committee that had he entered for the largest amount of cotton to the acre, premiums open to all ages, he would have also taken that premium, beating all 150 lbs. A. Sprunt, Esq, has been elected President of the Wilmington St. George and St. Andrews' Society for the present year.

The Wilmington Star says that Mr. James Bolan died in that city Sunday morning from injuries received some six months ago in coupling cars.

Wilmington was to have had a cantanta on Tuesday evening, the proceeds of which was to have been levoted to charitable purposes.

The fire which recently destroyed the house of Gen. L. G. Estes, in Edgecombe county, was occasioned by a defective flue. The family was askep at the time and barely escaped with their lives. A small portion of the furniture on the lower floor was saved.

The Wilmington Star regrets to learn that the blow received by Capt. B. G Bryan, Conductor on the Wilmington, Columbia and Augusta Railroad, near Whiteville, on Thursday morning last, caused by some scoundrel throwing a missile through the window of the car, is likely to result in the loss of his eye.

In speaking of the proposed bank at Hillsboro the Recorder of that place says: "We are glad to hear that this institution has at length the propect of going into operation. The charter has been so amended, as to require a paid in subscription of only ten thousand lollars to start it, and so small a sum will be readily taken. The establishment of a Bank will have a wonderful and immediate effect upon the business of the town and country, and will greatly facilitate the tobacco trade which is beginning to assume respectable dimensions. This, together with the construction of the Fayetteville and Danville road (a project which we trust will not be suffered to slumber,) will be a marked turning point in the history of Hillsboro.

Books of subscription to the stock of the Bank will be found open at the Drug Store of Dr. G. Hooker."

Just as the colored people of this place took steps to organize a temperance society, a colored bar room was opened. This is a coincidence. One institution to put down the traffic of liquor and the other to hold it up. The devil driven out of one place takes up his quarters in another, and grins and makes grimaces at the colored citizers on a square piece of white pine board, as they pass by, the three letters BAR. The box cars which were broken to pieces by being thrown off the Deep river bridge of the North Carolina Railroad, by a broken axletree, passed down to Company Shops Saturday

The heaviest rain witnessed in this locality lately fell last Thursday night. It beat down things generally, swelled the streams and caused feur among many. It began about dark and kept at it till daybreak.

There is a dog here that rushes out furiously at the trains every time they pass, and would, if he could, gather hold of them.

Our juveniles have gone to stilting again; as yet there has not been any legs broken. It is impossible for them to amuse themselves with one game or play long at a time. Owing to the religious revival going on in the Methodist Church here, Col. J. J. Hickman, the Kentucky lecturer of the Independent Order of Good Templars, declined to lecture in this place. One of the horses hitched to Dr.

Benbow's omnibus had a fit at the depot on Monday. The Dr. bled him, and he came to "his senses again." With sorrow and regret I chronicle the death of our friend and fellow citizen, Robert H. Albright, formerly editor of the Greensboro Patriot and lately of the Reidsville Record, who died in this Tuesday evening last. He had been confined to his bed two months, and for nearly leaving a young and three young boys to mourn his loss. He was a young man of about 28 or 30 years of age-in the bloom of manhood. Much sympathy and feeling has been manifested for the deceased and his bereaved family. This is the first death that has occurred in our city for several weeks, which casts a gloom over many. Thus in the moment when we least expect it the cold hands of Death comes and claims one of our number for its own, and, now, his spirit, I hope and pray, has winged its flight to that better land where sickness and death is unknown. He was buried Tuesday evening with full Masonic honors in the Methodist grave-yurd. A large concourse of the citizens attended

A lively and interesting religious re-vival has been and is going on in the Methodist Church of this place. Mrs. Caroline E. Talbott has been holding a series of meetings for the last week in the different churches, and Sabbath night the good work began. Some twenty young persons knelt at the altar, and before the congregation, a large assembly, were dismissed, several were converted. Monday night about fifty went up to the altar, and some fifteen or twenty professed to have made their peace with God. This is a meeting for all—Quakers, Methodists, Presbyterians, Episcopalians and Baptists have all united, and the result will be a glorious revival of religion and turning many to Christ from among the people of the Christ from among the people of the Greensboro. May the good work go op. Mrs. Talbott, the Quaker lady preacher, says she is called to preach the Gospel and to fulfill that calling, without fear of man, she travels from place to place preaching "Jesus and Him crucified." TYPO.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO., Fisher Building, Raleigh, N. C., Sole Agents :-

Owing to several incorrect reports of the Owing to several incorrect reports of the late fire at our Works, and in answer to numerous inquiries from our friends, we take this occasion to inform you that our business will not be seriously impaired on account of it, and that we shall continue to fill orders as promptly as heretofore. Below we append extract from the New York "World," of Jan. 27th, as containing the most correct account: most correct account:

"About ten o'clock last evening a fire broke out in Charles Pratt's Astral Oil Works, foot of North Twelfth street, Brook-lyn, E. D. Dense volumes of smoke soon followed, and the fire continued to spread until six of the large stills were in one mass of flames. Steps were at once taken to pre-vent its spread to the main buildings, containing a very large amount of property. In this they were more successful. The stills are located on the east end of the works, and are isolated from the storehouses and factory. The losses are as follows: There were fourteen stills in all, six of which were on fire. There were four stills of 275 barrels capacity, and two of 590 barrels capacity. They were all destroyed stiffs of 275 barrels capacity, and two of 599 barrels capacity. These were all destroyed, involving a loss of $20,000. Loss on oil estimated at $5,000. Loss on buildings about $2,000. The buildings about the stiffs were all new and were not quite finished. There are 300 men employed in the factory, but the fire will not interfere with them much. This was believed to be the finest oil factory in the country, and occupies a space one block in width, from North Twelth to North Thirteenth street, and from First. North Thirteenth street, and from First street to the East River, a distance equal to three blocks,"

We may add that two of the 500 bbi, stills are now found to be but slightly damaged. No damage whatever was done to Treating and Bleaching Tanks, or Pump Room. The loss is simply the temporary reduction of about half our distilling capacity, to which extent we shall resume on Wednesday, the Spanish News via London, LONDON, Feb. 12, 10 A. M .-- Dispatches from Madrid are more favorable for a peaceful solution. No disturbances of any kind are reported. It seems that there is a general disposition to support the provisional authority. The Cortes yesterday was the central proceedings were anxiously awaited by crowds of persons in all public places of the city. The two Houses assembled at a late hour in the day. A formal Amadeus was read in each Chamber seperately. It opens withe statement that the King has maturely considered the question of what course he ought to pursue with reference to the Spanish throne, and has firmly resolved upon that course. When he accepted the crown he did so under the belief that the loyalty of people, who had called him, would compensate for the inexperience which he brought to his task. He had found that herein he was deceived. If the enemies who had beset his path had been foreigners he would not have taken the course now determined upon, but they are Spaniards, and by them Spain has been kept in perpetual disquiet. All his efforts to quiet her or put an end to the intrigues, which were the source of her agitation, had proved unavailing. It was not enough that he had partisan support. He had no wish to remain on the throne as King of a party. He therefore announced his abdication on behalf of himself and his heirs. Upon the comrletion of the reading, the in the Chamber of the latter, President of the Congress, was called to the chair, and in a brief speech declared himself ready to answer for preservation of order and the execution of decrees of the sovereign power. A vote was then taken on the question of accepting, without discussion, the abdiunanimously. A commission from members of the Congress was then appointed to draft a reply to the message, and another commission to accompany the King to the frontier. Senor Pico proposed a resolution establishing a republic and vesting in the Louisiana, but the Senate in separate Assembly the supreme power. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 256 yeas, against 32 nays. The Assembly was still in session when the foregoing McEmery, electors 49 to 39; vote not was telegraphed from Madrid.

The Carlists are active in the neighborhood of Ligoeva and Estella. The city of Saragossa is virtually blockaded. The insurgents being masters of the sur rounding country.

German papers hint that the abdication was secured by French intrigue. At midnight the streets of Madrid were crowded with excited people.

London, February 12,-Further deails of the proceedings in the Spanish Cortes yesterday, has been received. The resolution of Senor Pio, before reported as adopted, comprised several propositions, among which were the following: That Spain be declared a Republic ; that the National Assembly assume all powers of supreme authority; that they appoint a responsible government to execute their decrees; that to another Assembly, to be hereafter elected, be carried the duty of determining the form of Constitution. The resolution was divided into several parts, and each part was voted upon separately.

The provisions declaring for the Republic and vesting sovereign power in the Assembly were adopted.

The remaining clause was then taken up for discussion. Salgeron declared his conviction that the government of Serrilla ought. to receive the support of the Assembly. He demanded that the new government be elected before the proposals of Senor Pio were adopted.

Rivero answered that the President of the Cortes was responsible for the preservation of public peace and order. Zorilla came down in the body of the Chamber and urged the propriety of Salgeron's demand.
